ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book was made possible due to research carried out through the generous support of various funding bodies. A collaboration between the University of Florence and the Yerevan State University has received support for field work since 2014 from the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation (MAECI), which led to the establishment of the Italian archaeological mission “The Making of the Silk Roads in Vayots’ Dzor,” later renamed “The Making of the Silk Roads in Armenia: A light archaeology of Euro-Asian connectivity in the Middle Ages (cc. 7–14),” establishing a partnership on the Armenian side with Prof. Hamlet Petrosyan and allowing the archaeological data collection in Vayots’ Dzor. In 2018, a field trip to Yeghegis was financed by the European Research Council (ERC)-funded Consolidator Grant Jews and Christians in the East: Strategies of Interaction between the Mediterranean and the Indian Ocean (JewsEast), at the Center for Religious Studies, Ruhr-Universität-Bochum (grant agreement no 647467) and by “Innovators Fund” granted to Zaroui Pogossian through Ruhr-Universität-Bochum Research School. The volume was completed under the auspices of another ERC-funded Consolidator Grant, Armenia Entangled: Connectivity and Cultural Encounters in Medieval Eurasia 9th – 14th Centuries (ArmEn), at the SAGAS Department of the University of Florence (grant agreement no 865067), which also financed the publication of the entire volume. Both ERC projects fall under the European Union’s Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme.

We also wish to express our heartfelt gratitude to the residents and the local administration of the Yeghegis Village, with some of whom we worked during our archaeological missions, for their friendly welcome, hospitality and for opening their gardens and orchards to us for the study of the monuments in situ.
